Brush Industries and Q-Card Unite Under New Name: BQ Technologies

BQ Technologies, LLC announced the formal unification of Brush Industries and Q-Card under a single corporate identity. Effective January 1, 2026, BQ Technologies assumed ownership and operational leadership of both organizations, continuing their long-standing service to the global payments and identification markets.

For decades, Brush Industries and Q-Card have been two of the most trusted names in the payments and ID space. Together, they have supported millions of daily transactions worldwide through precision manufacturing, transaction reliability, and specialized testing capabilities that help ensure payment and ID systems perform consistently in demanding real-world environments.

Brush Industries

Precision manufacturing expertise supporting magnetic head and transaction technologies.

Q-Card Company

Independent testing, validation, and certification solutions for payment and ID systems.

The formation of BQ Technologies represents a strategic next chapter built on continuity, experience, and a forward-looking vision.

“BQ Technologies is rooted in the legacy of Brush and Q-Card, but it’s also about where the market is heading,” said Jeff Myers, President and CEO of BQ Technologies. “As payment technologies continue to evolve, we see significant opportunity in testing, validation, and research and development. This transition allows us to invest more deliberately in those areas while continuing to deliver the products and services our customers rely on.”

American Manufacturing with a Global Reach

Beginning January 1, 2026, BQ Technologies has accelerated efforts to onshore the majority of its manufacturing, reinforcing its commitment to American production and quality. Headquartered in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, the company serves customers worldwide and is expanding outreach in key international markets, including India and the Middle East, where transaction infrastructure continues to grow.
